boy with his satchel
And shining morning face,
creeping like snail
Unwillingly to school."

Grahum

To those of us who have come in contact with them and who have known them personally, the untiring efforts of Coaches Rachel M. Brinton and Robert E. Pittman, have made us willing to carry on even in the face of defeat. Although our coaches have been here among us only three years, we know already that things have been accomplished, and that the will to go ahead, and the courage to do new things, have taken us beyond the efforts of the past. To them we dedicate this edition of Memories, our last link with school life, and leave with them the sincere wish that whatever they may do and wherever they may be in the future, they may succeed and find happiness.

A DAY AROUND

The Clock At Marple-Newtown High

"Tis education forms the common mind!

Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

"The clock measures out the hours but we fill them as we choose."

"It's easy to cry that you're beatenand die;

It's easy to crawfish and crawl; But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight-

Why that's the best game of them all!"

FOREWORD

Newtown High School about to be terminated, we of the Senior Class have composed this Memories of 1942 as a retrospect of the yesterdays for your pleasure in the tomorrows.

Quite obviously it is impossible to classify our many and diversified activities into strictly temporal periods, so our divisions of Classes, Activities, and Athletics are arbitrary ones serving chiefly as basic style for the book and stressing those student interests which are particular preeminent during these three time divisions.

So we present to you the Marple-Newtown Senior Yearbook of 1942.

AROUND THE CLOCK IN OFFICE AND CLASSROOM

To the Class of 1942:

Probably the most vital and valuable factor in our lives is time, yet its exact nature is unknown to us. Scientists have long struggled to ascertain definitely of what time is composed. Up to the present moment, however, their efforts have not met with success.

Nevertheless, no doubt exists as to the value of time. Without doubt it stands in the very forefront of those things to which we attach value. And yet, on all sides we see a tremendous waste in the use of time.

How often could a class or an examination be started just a little more promptly. We see an athletic contest being needlessly delayed. These are typical of the time-wasting occurrences taking place all around us, not only inside but outside of school also.

When you leave school you will be strongly impressed with the vital part which time plays in the carrying on of the world's affairs. Resolve to make the utmost use of it and not to be guilty of wasting it. Have the greatest respect for its value and it will pay you the richest of dividends.

Your friend,

JAY W. WORRALL.

CLASS PROPHECY

HIS is the very unofficial flight log of Bomber M. N. H. S. 42, which was taken from the official criminal record files of the War Department.

JUNE 26, 1952—9:55 A. M.

We left Larchmont Airport with a full load of stink bombs for Harveyland, and were going to attempt to bomb Dictator Harvey into submission, and thus end the great War of the Townships. McAllister was Senior Pilot in command, and Schneider, the great "bring 'em back dead man," was Co-Pilot.

We were soon in the air and hitting a good 350 M. P. H. clip, when Mac turned the ship over to Bill and observed the birds, bees, and trees with Grace Hill, our stewardess. David Teesdale, our chief electrician, was happily going around shocking everyone. We found Warren Dodson, our grease monkey, in the gun turret playing poker with gunner Charles Whalen, and using Betty Velde as collateral. As we swung out over the Atlantic, we spotted Admiral Ray Rose busily trying to see how well his battleship could fight the enemy while going in reverse, his idea being to fool Dictator Harvey into thinking he was running away. Harold Farr was seen scrubbing the deck, during his usual hour-aday. We soon left them in the distance, and passed on over into Africa.

8:02 P. M.

At the little village of Walla Walla we stopped at Freischmidt's Super-Service Station to change our water and get our tires blown up. For a bite to eat we cleaned out Mr. Purcell's Candy Stand, much to his disgust.

On taking off, we found the plane tailheavy, and discovered Bombardier Virtue in the baggage compartment slinging lipstick with (Censored). Passing over the Sahara, we saw a strange caravan which we had been told had been going across the desert for years. The leader answered to the name of Collins. Navigator Perley came forward with the amazing information that we had been flying sideways and upside down for 500 miles. As he was reading the tenth page of his report, Veronica Yoder, our temperamental movie actress, insisted that she was suing the Army because one of Betty Pride's sixteen children tore up her picture, but this situation was straightened out by MacLaren, our chief ticket-taker and self-styled woman pacifier.

Passing over Egypt, we saw a woman named Edna Doughten, who had been trying for ten years to figure out the mathematical formula of the Sphynx's inscrutable smile. In Cairo, we spotted the mythical Jack Hogg and his harem full on the trail of Eppie Heppenstall, who had gone crazy hunting a coal mine in the desert.

Russell Gorman, our chief Propeller Winder-Upper, slipped in starting the motors and we now have been forced to hang out a help-wanted sign on the front of our bomber. Peg Wagner was caught trying to teach the Arabs (with a few Cliftonians) shorthand by the Wagner method, and with success. At this point we picked up a single passenger, Virginia Lawrence, and left the ground. Suddenly we fell into a tailspin, and fell into the midst of Major Bill Patton's Foreign Legion, composed of former Boy Scouts. He sent us quickly on our way.

June 27, 1952—3:30 A. M.

Out over Mongolia, border of Harveyland, we started our first bombing run exactly on the time planned. Landrum, our assistant Bombardier, released his stink bombs in time to catch Dictator Harvey as he was leaving Room No. 24 of his prison. Rose Boyajian and Bessie Manton, his secretaries, were seen rushing madly about trying to catch the bombs in dishpans for future use. After successfully bombing Harvey and his horrible "Hour Plan" out of existence, we wearily turned our big bomber homeward.

We made a short stop in China for gas and were entertained by A. Long Fooey Snyder, and her Chinese swing band. A girl named Betty Scheid was caught trying to catch all loose male crew members, but "Strong Arm" Sweeney (now our propeller winder-upper) saved us by giving all the propellers a spin at once and thus sent us on our way.

5:00 P. M.

We saw a distress signal on a small island in the South Seas and, upon landing, discovered Helen and Marge Ovens, with Clem Clements, singing all the songs they could think up to a bunch of savage head hunters. They were evidently working on the assumption that "Music hath power to quell the savage breast." It seems they were en route to Panama. On exploring the island further, we were much surprised to discover Anna Goodyear and Gloria Nash and Ellen Schuler

THE JUNIORS FORGE AHEAD

FTER a very successful year, the Juniors are "raring" to start their Senior year as a class Marple-Newtown will long remember for its earnestness and ambition. The Juniors, under the capable leadership of President Woodcock and with the help of the other officers, have successfully undertaken and made profits from their parties and magazine drives. This class is the smallest and its treasury the largest of any Junior Class so far. This is an example of what can be accomplished with lots of hard work, and when all the members cooperate to make a success of their class.

If expectations are met, the Prom will be one of the highlights of the year—a goal toward which all are working.

Watch this class for bigger and better enterprises next year!

LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY

No THEIR first year of high school life and activities the Sophomores have accomplished much to be proud of. Besides having one of the largest class enrol ments in M-N history, the Tenth-Graders have gained distinction by their willing cooperation and their fine progressive spirit. More than amply represented were the Sophs on the different athletic teams, in the dramatic and operatic casts, and in the other school organizations. The generous donation of two thanksgiving baskets, the highest subscription percentage to the "Mar-News," and three champion basketball teams that copped all available honors in the intramural games, are some of the things we look upon with pride.

With this type of progress continuing, our future school years will be happy and abundant ones.

ENROLLMENT ACTIVE

E STARTED the fall of 1941 with an enrollment of about sixty pupils. Several were strangers to Marple-Newtown, but they soon became accustomed to our methods. The two Freshman Classes combined and gave a very successful Christmas Party. During guidance periods many took part in discussions of various topics. Several members of the Freshman Class took part in the operetta as dancers and in the chorus. Some of the members took part in athletic activities, assembly speeches, and assembly programs.

Since this is our last year in Junior High, we hope to do bigger and even more successful things in the forthcoming senior years.

Advisers

THE EIGHTH GRADE REVIEW

NOTHER year is almost gone. But looking backward, hasn't it been fun? Remember the skating party and the hot-dog roast when we worked and planned together for the fun? We can still remember how proud we were at the Bake Sale when the good news reached us that one hundred and sixty-five dollars had been made for our Athletic Association. Our eighth-grade boys won the Intramural Championship in Junior High Basketball—another pleasant memory. Remember the assembly programs and the Christmas play? What fun we had adapting Dickens' "Christmas Carol" and then dramatizing it!

We are looking forward to the ninth grade when we'll work and plan together for another successful term, but we shall never forget our eighth grade classes where we had such good times and worked so earnestly.

THE SEVENTH GRADERS

SEVENTH GRADE IMPRESSIONS

We found the junior high school very interesting and exciting. Planning the assembly programs, parties, and the bird hikes was so much fun. Many new experiences and many new pleasures have we found in the seventh grade. Meeting the children of Broomall and of Newtown Square has been enjoyable. We are looking forward to the eighth grade days when we may have even more exciting times.

SPRING OPERETTA

JORDS AND MUSIC," a college operetta, written by Adele Bohling Lee and Bert Horsewell, was presented on April 10 and 11.

Members of the cast were Leonard Grupe, Dorothy Stewart, Donald Virtue, Dick Perley, Katherine O'Brien, and Harry Hurley. The Girls' Quartet and the Boys' Trio gave able assistance.

Listed among the choruses were Willa

Amadio, Rose Boyajian, Alice Boyajian, Marilyn Fox, Laura Green, Ellen Schuler, Mildred Mackey, Gloria Nash, Nancy Rinchart, Ruth Stone, Louise Plank, Betty Taylor, Elaine Patton, William Brewer, Warren Dodson, John Flood, George Garris, Parker Harlow, Calvin Knowlton, William Mackey, Ceorge Peel, John Riggin, Ray Rose, Ralph Taylor, and Smedley Walters.

The dancers included Filomena De Vito, David Dewees, Virginia Flood, Betty Velde, Jane Stover, Dorothy Yoder, Marion Yoder, Nancy Muller, Grace Hill, and Ethel Thomas.

This year, for the first time, we had an orchestra accompaniment, directed by the music teacher.

CHERLEADERS

SIX snappy hep-cats including Catherine Clements, leader; Jack Hogg, Betty Crowley, Katherine O'Brien, Frank Augustine, and Jane Stover organized to produce one of the finest cheerleading units the school has known. Their everlasting spirit and enthusiasm spurred our teams on to hard-earned victories and helped to distribute a better quality of sportsmanship among all who attended.

IHIS year the Mar-News celebrated its third birthday. Experience was the high note of the year and thus accounted for some of the paper's success.

People fail to realize how much work is attached to producing as fine a paper as ours. It takes hours after school, and many times the study periods of the staff members are not their own.

Too, it has been the help of the entire student body who purchased and offered suggestions for improvement that has insured its success.

This year there has been a great increase in circulation, advertising, and variety of subject matter. The serial story and the Katty Korner proved to be what the students looked for in good reading for amusement. The talents offered in these subjects were brought into light under the leadership of our editor, Peggy Wagner. Of course, this was made possible through the able and most welcomed assistance of our acting adviser, Miss Decker.

We all hope that the paper will make as great a hit in the years to come as it has in the years gone by.

MIN ORCHESTRA

UR orchestra has proved very successful under the leadership of Mr. Lewis. It has elected officers as follows: President, Donald Virtue; Vice-President, Edna Doughten; Secretary, Marion Yoder; Treasurer, Marjorie Ovens. The orchestra has had regular practice for one hour one day a week and shows much improvement since last year.

The musical department gave a concert during the latter part of May principally to raise money for band uniforms. Because of the success of this venture, we hope to continue to give these concerts.

It attempted with success to play the opening overture and to accompany the chorus in the operetta, "Words and Music."

NDER the supervision of Mr. Wynn Lewis, the first band in our school's history was organized. It helped greatly toward the improvement of the musical department of Marple-Newtown High School. The Band made its appearance at the annual Thanksgiving Day football game at Springfield and at a Variety Show sponsored by Marple-Newtown.

The members were: Louise Kirk, Viola De Vito, Fred De Jong, George Seely, Bob Spiller, Helen Blosenski, Martin Lyons, Eileen Collins, Wayne Gordy, Donald Virtue, Jane Hunter, Robert Harris, John Flood, Nancy Rhinehart, Miriam Hipple, Bill Hipple, Betty Fox, Carl Zimmerman, and David Dewees. Marion Yoder and Ethel Thomas were the drum majorettes together with Louise Boyajian, Lois Troupe, and Lois Robinson as baton twirlers.

A.J.A. COUNCIL

LTHOUGH the Athletic Council has not discussed many problems of importance this year, the main issue has been the question of giving letters in the different sports. Another item which has been widely discussed is the changing of our May Day activities from track to competitive sports, including basketball and volleyball.

The Athletic Council student members for the school year 1941–42 include: President, William Schneider; Vice-President, Leonard Grupe; Secretary, Catherine Clements; Treasurer, Elaine Patton; Stuart MacLaren, Betty Crowley, Janice Ramsey, and Robert Woodcock.

SEMIOR HIGH ON THE DIAMOND

T THE time our Yearbook went to press, we had played only the first game of the season with Clifton. The score was in Clifton's favor, 5 to 4. Governmental regulations of the use of tires and gasoline have placed a ban on the use of the school buses for transporting athletic teams to different schools. In order to comply with these regulations Marple-Newtown has been forced to discontinue its baseball schedule.

ON THE FIELD

Captain Elaine Patton

THIS year our hockey team celebrated its second anniversary. Because there was so much interest this year, enough girls came out to make two teams. Under the leadership of Miss Brinton, each and everyone cooperated and worked hard in order to have an enjoyable and successful season.

Catherine Clements, Dorothy Yoder, Betty Velde, Anna Goodyear, Peggy Wagner, Grace Hill, and Betty Scheid will be lost through graduation. Other lettermen are Jeanne Loomis, Elaine Patton, Mary Lou Meuhlmatt, Frances Hilliard, and Filomena De Vito.

We lost to Radnor, Berwyn, Haverford, and Ellis College but were victorious over Swarthmore, 3-0.

LETERMEN

SEMIOR HIGH ON THE COURT

THE Girls' Basketball team, under the leadership of Coach Brinton and Captain Hill, finished a most successul season this year. Our first three games were won by a large margin by the M-N girls. Our next game ended in a tie with Radnor. Our one defeat was handed to us by Springfield, but by only one point. To overshadow that defeat the girls scored a brilliant victory over Sharon Hill. Five of the first team will be lost by graduation, namely C. Clements, A. Goodyear, P. Wagner, B. Velde, and G. Hill.

enjoying Moonlight Coconut Cocktails with a bunch of wild men they had tamed?

At last, later in the afternoon, while we were cruising along at a leisurely speed of 600 M. P. H., we sighted the Statue of Liberty. Because most of us had never been there, Navigator Perley and Pilot McAllister got their curly heads together and performed the difficult feat of landing our Bomber on the eyeballs of the statue. Porter Bonnell went crazy, because he was having a nightmare, and between his ravings and the noise of the rest of our bombs going off, the Army officials were aroused, and we had to spend a nice quiet and peaceful two years at the State Pen. Our records, by means of the amazingly accurate files of the Criminal Record Department, we believe, will be handed down to posterity.

Whalen—"What happens when that chicken lays an egg?"

Collins—"If that chicken lays an egg, I'll give it to the museum."

Whalen—"Why?"

Collins—"Because that chicken is a rooster!"

Mr. Stone—"What is the definition of a caterpillar?"

Perley-"An upholstered worm."

Mr. Stone—"What is the definition of a worm?"

Perley—"A caterpillar who played strip poker and lost."

Mr. Potter—"I caught my wife kissing the ice man yesterday."

Mr. Pittman—"Why don't you buy her an electric refrigerator?"

Mr. Potter—"Don't be silly. There's no fun in kissing a refrigerator."

Schneider—"Oh, I feel terrible. I think I've got the clothing sickness."

George—"Clothing sickness? What's that?"

Schneider—"There's a coat on my tongue and my breath is coming in short pants!"

A guide showing a lady through the Zoo took her to the kangaroo's cage.

"Here, madam," he said, "we have a native of Australia."

The visitor stared at it in horror.

"Good gracious!" she said, "and to think my sister married one of them!" Compliments of

Miss Decker—"Why do they say 'Heil Hitler' in Germany?"

Ray—"'Cause if they don't they will get heil."

Farr—"Where do all the bugs go in the wintertime?"

Patton—"Search me."

Farr—"No thanks—I just wanted to know!"

Dot Yoder—"I'm delicate; I was an incubator baby!"

Norma—"Gee, that's tough. It must be awful on Mother's Day to send flowers to a stove!"

Miss Yeingst—"David, will you read your four-line dramatic poem you did for homework?"

David Teesdale—

"A boy was walking down the track, The train was coming fast.

The boy stepped off the railroad track

To let the train go past."

Miss Yeingst—"The verse is well done, but couldn't you make it a bit more dramatic?"

David Teesdale-

"A boy was walking down the track; The train was coming fast.

The train jumped off the railroad track

To let the boy go past."
